The Professional's Paint Since 1922

Leyland shines at Sunningdale

Leading paint brand Leyland Trade has left the competition in the shade after inspiring a bright new look at a luxury set of apartments.

Contractor: Fine Lines Decorating Services Ltd

Task: The luxurious and well known 38-property Sunningdale Court in Blackpool overlooks the famous Royal Lytham Golf Course. Being such a high profile building, the exterior paintwork needs maintaining every three years and after winning a competitive tender process local decorators Fine Lines Decorating Services Ltd wasted little time in specifying Leyland's Truguard Pliolite as the paint of choice to add a sprinkle of colour.

Product: Sixty litres of Truguard Pliolite were used on 204 previously unpainted stone cills, 154 keystones and 60 quoin stones. Part of Leyland's Truguard range of BBA accredited exterior coatings, Pliolite masonry paint resists rain within 20 minutes of application and can be applied in temperatures as low as -5°C, making it perfect for year round use. Leyland's Truguard Pliolite is available in over 7000 colours, ensuring decorators and their customers have an extensive range to choose from.

Background: The work was carried out over an eight-week period by five contract staff from the St Annes-based Fine Lines Decorating Services Ltd and to such a high standard that it scooped an industry accolade in the Painters and Decorators National Premier Trophy Awards 2009 finishing Highly Commended.

Owner of Fine Lines Decorating Services Ltd, Andrew O'Neill, said:

"We feel proud to have won being such a small company and having been in business such a short time. It's a real honour to be bringing this accolade back to Lancashire."

"We felt that Leyland's Truguard Pliolite was the right product to be using in the paint specification for the new stonework on this project and that the paint was of a standard better than any of its competitors. We pride ourselves on the quality of our work and customer care and felt this product was what we needed. It provides a smooth and robust matt finish and is able to withstand pretty testing conditions, which are a regular occurrence in this part of the country!"
